

OUSFG's Desert Planet Books

Mission brief

Every year our space exploration vessel Serenity sets off on a journey through the stars. And every year it inevitably crash-lands on a desert planet in the Alpha Carinae system. We originally blamed this on the engineering crew, but at this point we're convinced that the ship is just cursed.

Anyway, since we all know we'll end up stranded on that miserable desolate planet again, we've decided to pack accordingly — provisions, tents, appropriate clothing, medicine, etc. The only thing left to decide on is which books to take with us. The planet already hosts a small collection left by previous missions, and we have enough storage space for ten more books.

Here are the books* we picked at the OUSFG discussion meeting of 11th October 2017.

* loosely defined as we also accept some series of books
