PROGRESS REPORT NO. 2

30th British Easter SF Convention

YORCON

30th British Easter SF Convention

APRIL 13-16th 1979

YORCON PROGRESS REPORT 2. October/November 1978.

Welcome to the second of our Progress Reports. No major problems have been encountered as yet, you'll be pleased to know, and we can offer the outlines of our intended programme, detailed below. However, it is first our sad duty to report the death of John Michael Rosenblum. Whilst it has been announced in various organs to date, it was our intention to honour him in some way at the convention in view of his long and dedicated associations with Science Fiction and fandom, especially here in Leeds during the war and the early fifties. We know he was looking forward to the forthcoming convention very much, and we can only offer our condolences to his widow Betty and extend a very warm welcome to her at Easter next year.

THE YORCON PROGRAMME

At this stage, with about six months still to go until the convention, it is impossible to outline the programme with any exactitude. However, several people have already promised to make programme contributions; they include Bob Shaw, Philip Strick, Christopher Priest, Roy Kettle and Brian Stableford.

There will be panel discussions, both serious and humorous, a "Call My Bluff" quiz, talks, films, auctions and - of course - a Guest of Honour speech by Richard Cowper. Peter Garratt, a clinical psychologist and SF fan, will give a talk on whales and dolphins and the ways in which the subject of cetacean intelligence has been dealt with in SF. There will also be a Saturday night discotheque, a fancy dress parade, and a Sunday evening banquet. We intend to provide a full and interesting programme; all the traditional Eastercon events will be repeated, together, we hope, with a few stimulating innovations.

YORCON The 30th British Easter Science Fiction Convention at the Dragonara Hotel, Leeds, APRIL 13th-16th 1979.

Fan Hospitality Room

Organiser: Ian Williams.

I hope I'm not being over ambitious, but what I'm aiming to do with the Fan Hospitality Room are three things:

Its use as a hospitality room is important; for people at their first convention it can be a confusing experience, especially if they come by themselves. I'm hoping to keep the room open as much as possible and there will always be someone there to try and help newcomers to conventions. If you want information, advice or simply just to talk - the Fan Room is there for you.

The Fan Room is actually split over two adjacent rooms. The first is for hospitality and display, which brings me onto the second function. The 1970's have been an active and prestigious decade for British Fandom and I hope to chronicle this with a large display entitled "The Visual History of British Fandom in the Seventies". This is to be a compilation of brief text, photographs, illustrations, fanzine covers etc, presented in a chronological form. Also on display will be fanzines (Note to all fan editors: Please bring along plenty of copies, either to sell or give away), information about local groups and many other aspects of fandom. We also hope to show a retrospective view of 40's fandom, which had some of its roots in Leeds.

The third function of the Fan Room is the Fan Programme, all items on which will be held in the second room. The programme will be a mixture of serious and silly items, including one controversial panel and an item by our Fan Guests of Honour, Pat & Graham Charnock.

Ian Williams October 1978.

Note: Ian will be writing in PR3 a brief article on what Science Fiction fandom is about.

If demand exceeds the space available, it may prove necessary to impose a limit on the number of works per person that can be displayed. Confirmation of space allocated will be given out with Progress Report 4 which is to be published in March 1979.

Competitions will be staged, in various categories, and prizes awarded to the most popular pictures. Artwork may be offered for sale at YORCON, but Convention Funds will claim a meagre 10% commission on each sale.

Fan Guests of Honour

PAT & GRAHAM CHARNOCK

Pat and Graham Charnock have long been known for their many and varied contributions to SF fandom. Graham was first off the mark with his fanzine PHILE, which reflected much of the character of the "New Wave" - that ill-defined but convenient term for the changes which animated the SF world in the latter part of the sixties. He was later an assistant editor with NEW WORLDS (in its large-paper Arts Council incarnation) and also sold stories not only to NEW WORLDS but to ORBIT, NEW WRITINGS IN SF, TITBITS, FLIRT and DANGEROUS VISIONS. Meanwhile Pat was gaining experience of fandom, and joined Graham on the committee of the 1975 Eastercon, remembered as a notably successful convention. Provoked by old codgers (G.Pickersgill, L.R.A Kettle, etc) rambling on about the great days of PHILE, the female Charnock struck a blow for independence by creating WRINKLED SHREW, widely acknowledged as one of the most lively and entertaining fanzines of the seventies. Graham replied with the slimmer VIBRATOR, where his own talent for effective and economical writing showed to good advantage. During this period he was also active as a musician, appearing with The Burlingtons at the 1975 and 1977 Eastercons. On recordings he was featured with Michael Moorcock and The Deep Fix on NEW WORLDS FAIR in 1975, and with Pat, R.G.K. "Macho" Rachman and C.Carr Haghonk (two former members of the Teutonic Nites, a punk C & W group well known in the Ladbroke Bier Keller) on THE ASTRAL LEAUGE'S GOLDEN GREATS in 1977. A change of address and labours on behalf of Britain's 1979 Worldcon (Graham has been a committee member since the bid's inception and Pat recently took on the duties of Secretary) have restricted Charnockian fanzine activity over the last year, but a successor to the 70 page 7th issue of WS is promised soon. Since anything done by a Charnock or Charnox (the usual collective noun) is worth celebrating, this should form an appropriate accompaniment to their appearance as Joint Fan Guests of Honour.

DEPOSITS: Unfortunately since the last PR, it has become Ladbroke Hotel policy to charge a deposit on all room bookings, and the Dragonara has had to bow to such policy. We have tried to keep them as low as possible, and there will be a flat rate of £10 per person, irrespective of whether you are using a single or double room. Full details will be sent out with our next PR on the hotel booking forms.
