

And of course our guests will reappear to give, respectively, an interview and an audio-visual presentation on The Prisoner.

In the face of overwhelming apathy, on the other hand, there will be no art show, masquerade or auction. Sorry to those who expressed an interest, but there wasn't enough response to make it feasible.

Events provisionally scheduled for Friday evening include (in order of appearance) a discussion meeting (on terraforming), a showing of the Spock In Manacles video (for which I disclaim all responsibility), some variety of quiz, a panel on sf as literature (unquote), the first and last Fundament rehearsal. This is by no means complete but trying to work it out from the bit of paper I was given is beyond me.

COME IN NUMBER 077 YOUR TIME IS UP

Miscellaneous witterings of interest to some, possibly even you: first, please do return booking forms even if you don't want rooms, meals or the like so that we know you don't, rather than having to guess. This is particularly true if you want to book a twin room, as we can by no means guarantee that there will be any available at the con (I'm not entirely certain there are any left now--the best we may be able to do is to twin two single rooms).

Second, for the benefit of those who have mysteriously acquired this PR without having joined, on-the-door rates will be £10 for the weekend or £5/day; the closing date for preregistration is 30 July, and rates until then remain £9 attending (£4 supporting).

Third, should you need to contact us urgently during the con (eg. if you get lost in Oxford somewhere), your best chance is to ring reception at the Poly (0865-64777) and try to get one of the committee to the phone.

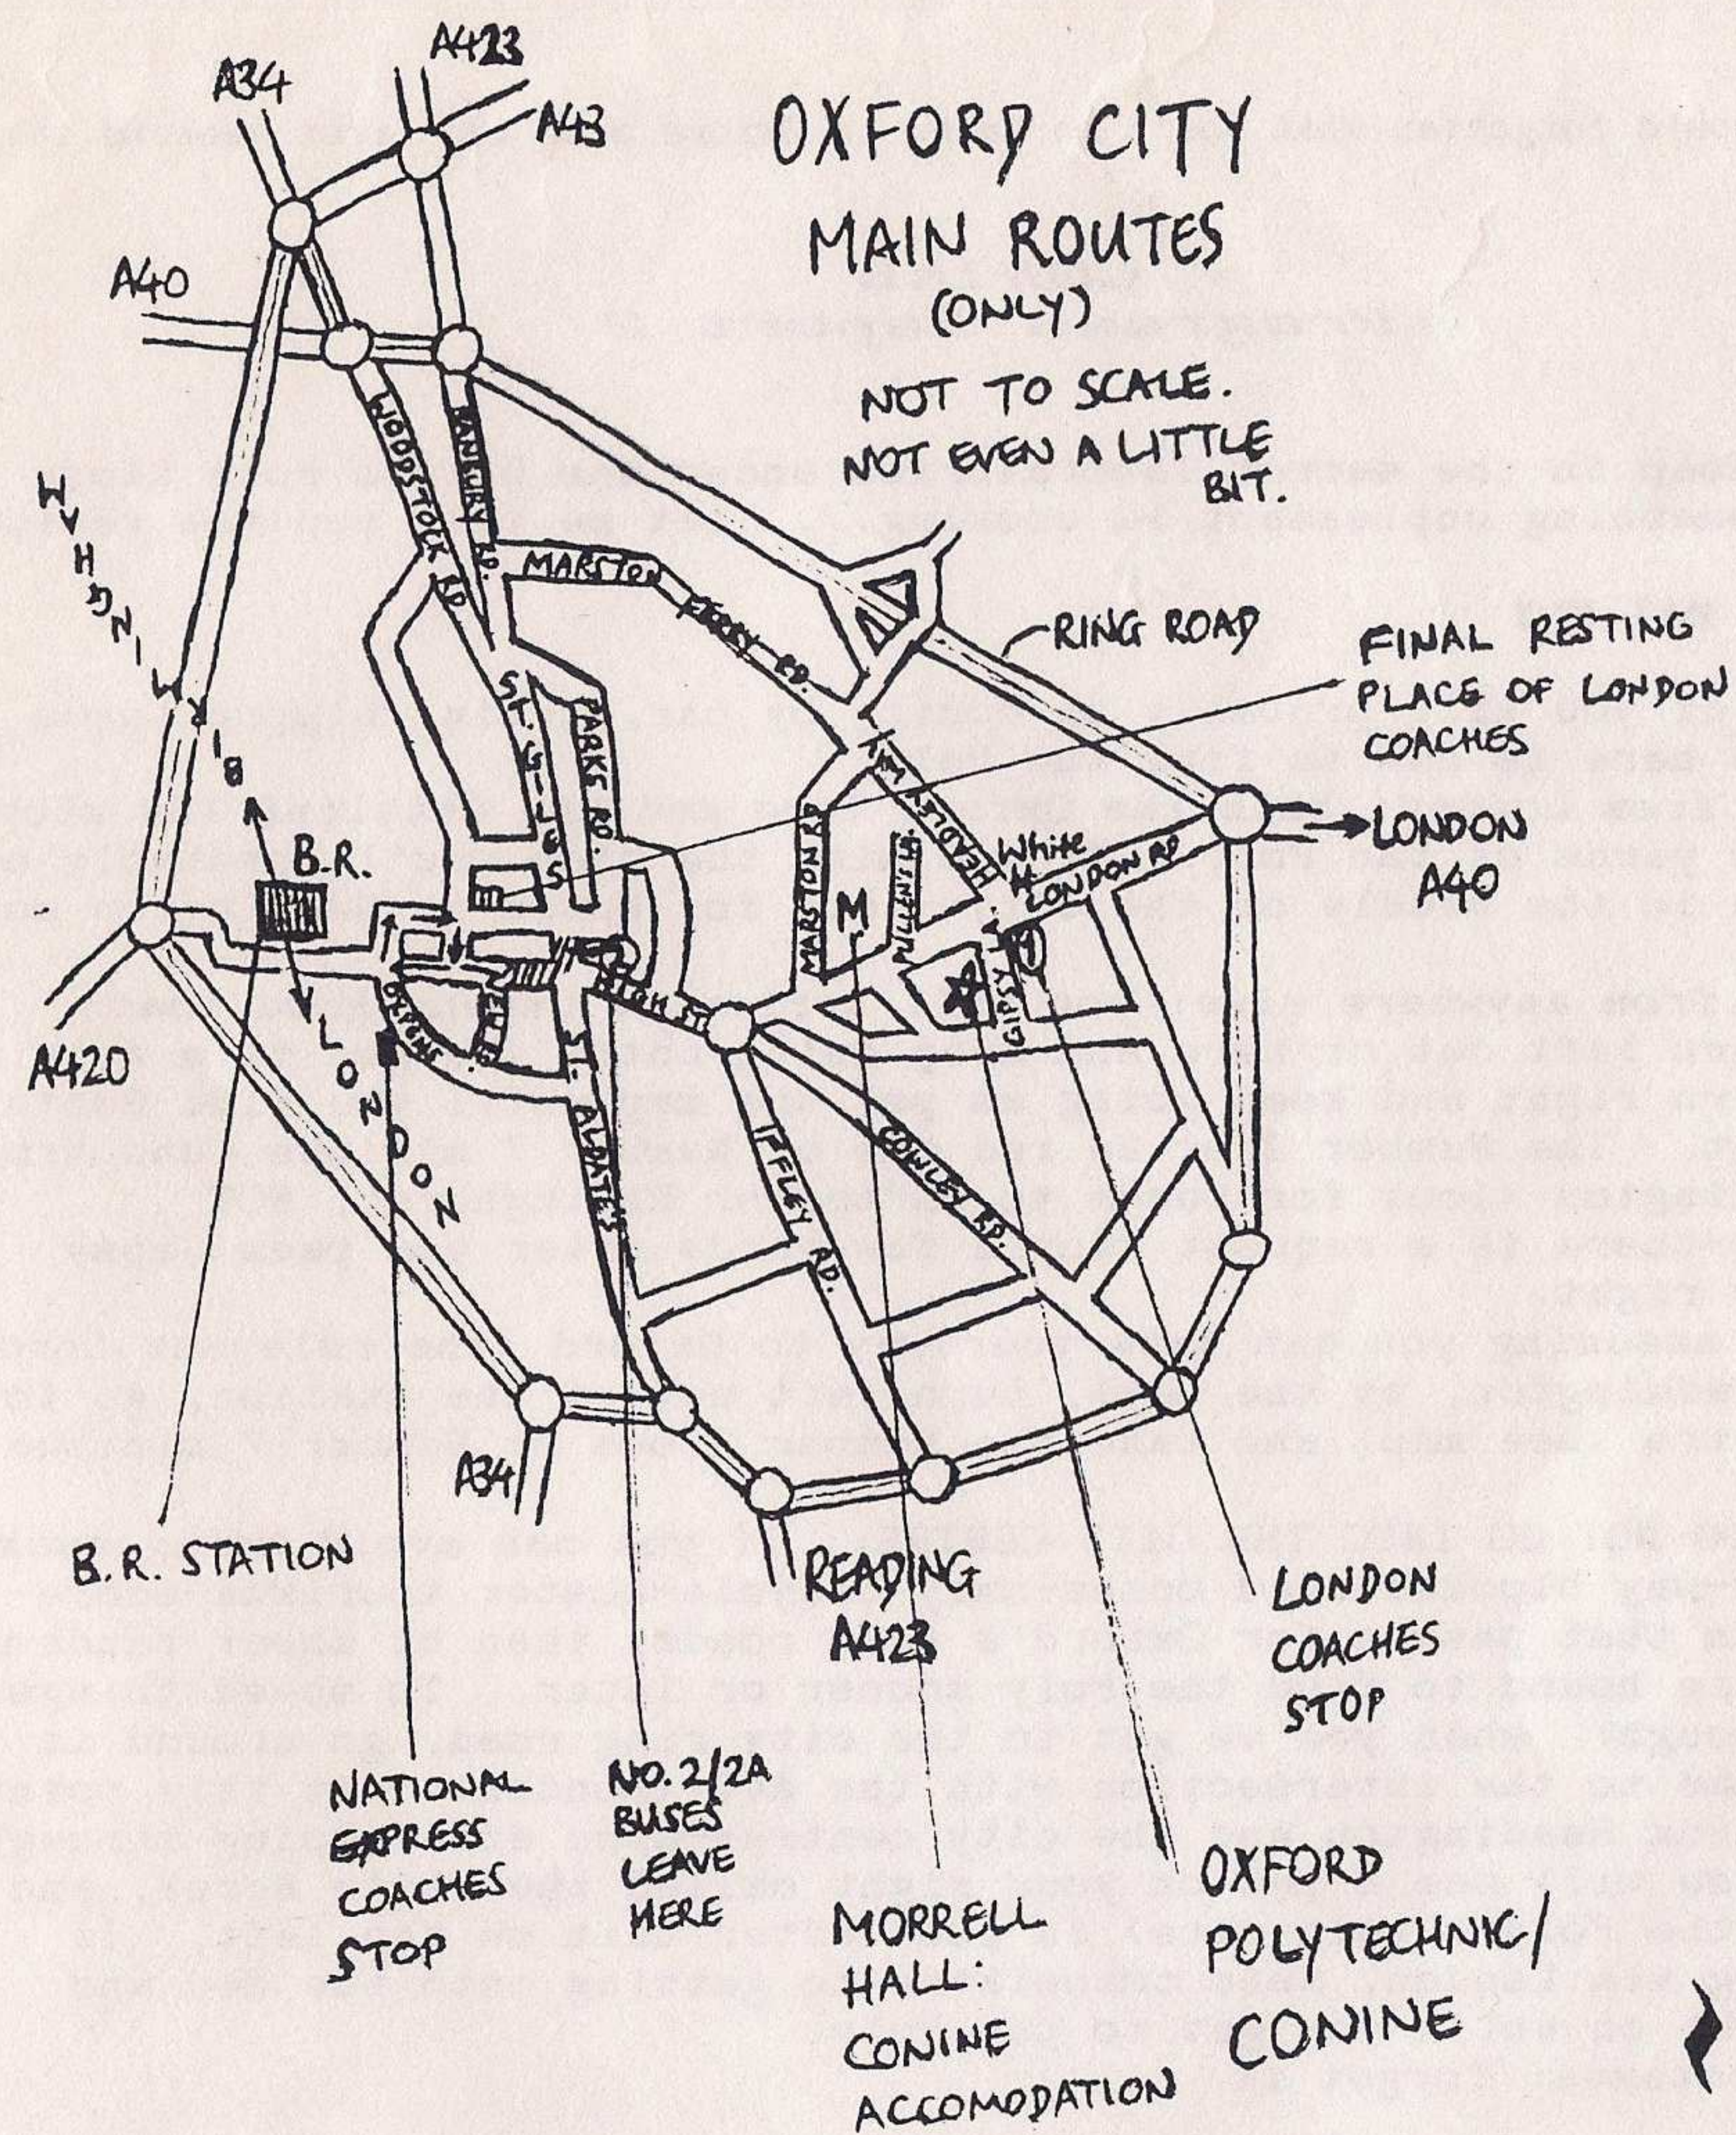

We look forward to seeing you.
