VIRTUAL DEVNIAD! (THANKS TO BOB DEVNEY)

THEODORA GOSS:

“I’ve gone over my work recently, and I find that when Death is present, it is often personified as a lover. And I wonder what that says about me.”

MICHAEL SWANWICK:

“I’ve seen Death. When I was twelve years old, I drowned ... It was a wall of blackness, extending infinitely to all sides in front of me.”

F. BRETT COX, last words to end the panel on Death:

“Well, we’ve come to the end of our allotted time.”
