To: MagiCon Staff and Committee

Yellow alert. If you haven't yet reserved your rooms for MagiCon, please do so now.

Rooms are going fast, and we don't want staff to be left out. The Quality Inn and the Peabody are nearly full, but we have saved a few rooms for staff. If you make your reservations now, you should still be able to get into those hotels. If you have any problems, please contact Ben Yalow at (212) 543-7792 or online at >Internet:ybmcu@cunyv.cuny.edu . You can make reservations by calling the Orlando Housing Bureau at (800) 258-7666 or (407) 363-5800.

While I've got you reading this, let me remind those of you who haven't gotten MagiCon memberships yet, that you might want to do so now, before the rates go up again at the end of March. Remember, everyone, including you and me, has to have a membership. The rate currently stands at $95.00.

Thanks for all your help.

Joe Siclari, Chairman

 - Requests space in the Exhibits area for masque overflow after ceremony.
 - Requests a hall or other area to usher judges out of room
 - Requests additional tables and chairs.
- o Food Functions
 - NASA Luncheon with R. Crippen and J. Young scheduled for Friday noon. Events/Programming to coordinate this with NASA Liaison Joe Green.
 - Publicity to send out a Press Release on this event
 - Crippen/Young speech is tentatively scheduled for Friday at 3:00PM. This allows members who are not at Luncheon a chance to hear the speakers. A 1 Hr break will occur between the Luncheon and the speeches.

o Hugo Awards

- Requests separate Green Rooms for nominees
- Will interface with Publicity on interviewing nominees and winners.

o Opening Ceremonies

- Scheduled for 2:30PM Thursday

o Filking

- Scheduled to be held in the Orlando Room (Peabody)
- Coffee/Tea set-ups are requested
- Menu from catering will be investigated to analyze costs

o Logistical Items

- Request carts to move bulky and heavy items around OCCC (especially Sales to members items).

o Meet the Pros Gathering

- Discussion occurred on moving this from the Peabody to the Clarion pool area.
- Ben Yalow to check on food prices and usage of the pool area at the Clarion.

o Closing Ceremonies

- Steve Whitmore to contact Confrancisco.

o Regency Dance

- Need a dance floor.

o Technical

- Provides lights and microphones for con
- Will work with Services Division for ordering equipment.
- Technical personnel are not expecting to deal with the decorator or to take any logistical trips to survey the facilities.

o Alternate Awards

- Discussion occurred on when to hold these awards.
- No significant decisions made at this time. Will work with Programming on this.

Miscellaneous Events Division Requests

- o Events Division requests that more correspondence needs to be sent to Division heads not just the area coordinators.
- o More constraints must be placed on the budget.
- o "Poof You're It" should be more meaningful.

FACILITIES DIVISION - AREA RESPONSIBILITIES

- o Coordinates with hotels and OCCC on all space allocation and for room blocks, VIP suites, and any facility problem.
- o Prepares and submits resumes for the OCCC and Hotels and outlines usage of all rooms.
- o Receives all requests for space and facility allocation from other Divisions and Chairman.

ADMINISTRATION DIVISION ITEMS

- o Rick Waterson coordinating registration
- o Programming Division asks that Administration provide computer space to compile programming ideas during the Programming frenzy.
- o Administration received a letter and inquiry from fans in Eastern Europe asking for an invitation to come to MagiCon. This is a political matter and needs to be addressed.
 - Joe Siclari and Melanie Herz working on this.
 - Theresa Renner reported on an organization called "Fans Across the World" which can possibly help with expenses for the European fans which was an additional concern stated in the letter Administration received.
 - Discussion continued on what the letter should entail and on reduced membership costs to those fans unable to afford the full membership prices.
 - For clarification purposes: An Admission is not a membership. This allows a person to visit the convention but they have no privileges (voting rights for site selection etc). A membership in MagiCon includes the voting rights.

Decision was made compose a letter to invite the Eastern European fans to MagiCon but not to offer any subsistance or money.

- Theresa Renner also told MOB that Bridget Wilkerson coordinator of "Fans across the World" was willing to place an ad in our Progress Reports to offer assistance to the Eastern European fans.

Hotel information TBD.

MagiCon Fan Lounge

Information and Stuff
from Geri Sullivan

1/15/92

"Not responsible. Park and lock it, sucker."

Ok, I confess, I have undertaken a few responsibilities for MagiCon. They mostly relate to running the fan lounge.

First off, here's what I hope the fan lounge will be:

A friendly, comfortable place for fans to hang out while also serving as an entry point for neo-fans to meet people and find out more about fandom. If we do it right, the lounge will be both intimate and welcoming.

The lounge will be located in the convention center, I believe in the theme park area. We're hoping to put together a lounge that resembles a British pub — comfortable chairs, small tables, perhaps a sofa or two, and a cash bar, if possible. There will be a fanzine sales area; a newsstand rack arrangement has been suggested.

The lounge will always be "staffed" by hosts, following the Minneapolis in '73 Suite style developed at Minicon over the last two years. Each host (or group of hosts) will be responsible for a two-hour shift. The job is not arduous and hosts are encouraged to put their own party "spin" on the lounge during their shift(s). For example, at Minicon 26, Bob Tucker and Don Fitch hosted a Fannish Dinosaurs Party. Another group hosted an Irish Whiskey Party. There are two purposes behind the host scheme: 1) it adds involvement, interest, and activity to the lounge, thus making it — and the convention — better, and 2) it keeps me from becoming a crispy fried critter by trying to do it all myself.

Don Fitch, Jeanne Gomoll, Nevanah Smith, Moshe Feder, and Dick and Nicki Lynch have already agreed to serve as hosts at the MagiCon fan lounge, and I'll recruit more hosts at Corflu, while in England, and at Minicon this year.

"If you didn't want crottled greeps, why did you order them?"

Here's what I think I'm doing:

Pre-MagiCon Coordination

- Recruit hosts
- Help to determine budget
- Place order for furniture/equipment rental
- Plan & gather/create decorations (eye candy, fannish references, "toys")
- Determine lounge hours — (11 am - 11 pm Thursday - Sunday; 11 - 5 Monday?) Schedule hosts/parties/special events for the lounge
- Communication/publicity — write blurb for last pr, program book, spread word about fan lounge at Corflu, in England/Ireland, and through the fan press
- Plan fanzine sales area — develop general rules (% to TAFF/DUFF, etc.)

At MagiCon

- Set-up (Wednesday night or Thursday)
- Post hours, hosts, events
- Overall coordination. Problem-solving as needed
- Track fanzine sales
- Enjoy fan lounge, enjoy convention
- Tear-down (Monday)

Here's what I'm relying on others to do for me:

- | | |
|--|----------------------------------|
| A) Provide information/answer my many questions (see below) | Who:
TR, others per referrals |
| B) Provide beeper and related communication support services during convention | Operations |
| C) Tell me if I've overlooked anything obvious | TR, anyone |

"Does anyone have any pointless and annoying questions?"

TR, I'd appreciate your help in answering the following:

- 1) Where exactly in the convention center will the fan lounge be?
- 2) What are the dimensions of the space?
- 3) Do I need to order "walls" (curtains or other space dividers)?
- 4) How do I order furniture? How do I find out what's available and at what cost?
- 5) Do I have a final budget? Does it include all costs — furniture rental, beeper, etc.?
- 6) How do I go about arranging for the cash bar? Can I have one? Can we arrange for a cash coffee service? Other paid refreshments?
- 7) What are the rules we need to follow, especially regarding food, drink, smoking, etc.? (I would like to have both smoking and non-smoking areas in the fan lounge, if at all possible.) Can you send me a copy of the MagiCon contract with OCCCC or other MagiCon information about what's cool and what's not?
- 8) It looks like we can move in to the convention center on Wednesday. When do we need to be out of the fan lounge?
- 9) What sort of security is being provided?
- 10) How do I arrange for a phone in the fan lounge? What are the costs involved? (At the very least, the host needs to be able to beep me. It would be nice if we could also make local phone calls.)
- 11) Can I ship decorations/supplies/fanzines directly to the convention center and have them held for my arrival? And then ship them from MagiCon? Information, please, on the whens and hows...
- 12) How do I go about spending MagiCon's money? (Don't panic, I mean budgeted money!)
- 13) What are Florida laws regarding sales tax? Do we have to charge tax on fanzine sales? (I hope not!)

Thanks!

Notes on International Drive: 2 good restaurants: The Butcher Shop and Damano's The Place For Ribs, both in the Mercado Mall. Damano's is a Franchise of The Place For Ribs Restaurant, and the portions seem to be reasonable for the price. The barbecue sauce is good, and tends more to tease than bash you over the head. They have daily specials at very good rates. The Butcher Shop is expensive, but worth it. Oversized steaks, good salads. Pick your own beef, and you may cook it too, if you wish. (I like mine Well, so I cooked it. Chip cooked his too, but it was still mooing when he sat down to eat.) The flavor of the meat is very good, and it's tender. But it can be overkill, too. a 14oz Filet Mignon is ENORMOUS! And that's the 2nd smallest cut on the menu! We have copies of the menu from both restaurants.

There is also a Pub at the Mercado, called The Cricketers Arms. Food is reasonable, beverages are reasonable, decor is a little overboard on the Brass. They have 4 British Drafts, with real Hand Pump Pull Taps, in addition to the standard beer on Draft. It's worth a try, if you're a beer aficionado.

Breakfast Notes: Denny's. Lots of them. All over the place. As well as several Perkins and IHOPS. Perkins was the least expensive breakfast, and the greasiest hash browns. Denny's is... well, Denny's. Every single one is exactly the same. The IHOP had the best value for the money, and I couldn't finish the 3 egg omelet. Just too big! However, the building was also the oldest, and not as bright and airy as the other places. But the staff smiled the most, too.

2 Mini Golf Courses we tried: Pirates Cove & Congo River. Similar, yet subtly different. Congo River is a little harder course, but Pirates Cove is right next to the Mercado.

Universal Studios: Try going with a friend. Alone, it's somewhat boring. The BACK To The Future ride was as good as I'd been hearing, and worth the 20 minute wait, even after I was bored and crabby from waiting in line all day long. The King Kong thing was ludicrous. After 45 minutes in line, I didn't even want to go on the silly thing. Earthquake seemed to be OK, but I'd rather have the opinion of someone who has been through the real thing. The Hanna-Barbara ride was okay, too. Nice to see that Dick Dastardly and Muttley haven't been abandoned entirely.

It seems that the majority of rides consist of a Flight Simulator type assembly, which lifts and turns the passenger. The largest I'd been on was the Star Tours ride at Disney/MGM, and the smallest are in Malls, where they do Roller Coaster simulations for $2.00.

Three-D Lives: I've heard a number of times about the MUPPETVISION IN 3-D show at Disney/MGM, and as a die-hard Muppetholic, I had to see it.

I loved it! The 3D effects are great, even if obviously cheap attempts at humor sometimes. But isn't that what the Muppets are all about? Nothing highbrow here! Even when the bubbles started drifting through the audience, and when we got squirted, it was pleasing.

More 3D: Did you know that Hitchcock initially filmed DIAL M FOR MURDER in 3D? A short section of it was shown here, and was very well done. Then, they resorted to some cheap 3D effects for THE BIRDS... A good time, and recommended.

People I've spoken to in the Orlando area say that the theme parks should be less than crowded the week after Labor day; Most schools are back in session by the first week of September, and apparently the local schools are back in the last week of August.

There's a place opposite Universal's entrance called The Wizard's Fun House. Admission wasn't too bad, and the mirrors as you enter are OK, and there's one or two amusing parts to it, but... On a price:value evaluation, it comes up lacking. There's an attached laser tag game, but I didn't try it.

Discount Ticket Sales: there are booths EVERYwhere! Several have salespeople pitching time-sharing condos too, so be wary. For that matter, be wary about the ticket sellers in general. According to the Orlando Convention & Visitor's Bureau, some of the tickets sold are no good, some are stolen, and some are legitimate. Insist on a receipt and a guarantee. Remember that Disney does not license 1-day tickets through ticket brokers, so any broker doing so is selling either illegally, partially used multiple day tickets, or stolen tickets. And some may just be bad. If a large group wants to visit any theme parks, (20 or more) Contact the OCVB. They may be able to arrange a better discount, or put you in touch with the right people to do so. Incidentally, they do broker tickets at a lower price than gate price, but nothing for Disney, as yet.

Hotels seem to have a policy of providing room safes, more for the peace of mind of the guest than for any real security. You are encouraged to make use of the Hotel Safe for valuables. Remember, this is a resort community, and there is a real criminal element.

Kennedy Space Center is between 40 & 60 miles from Orlando, and a good part of the trip is one lane road. If there are any scheduled bus trips, they would be a better idea than driving out yourself. And if there's a shuttle launch planned for around the convention, it would be worthwhile to join the National Space Society. They have a chartered bus drive or two leave Orlando for Canaveral, and members present get VP seating (3-4 miles away) which is as close as you can get, I'm told. I was 12 Miles away for a spectacular night time launch, and I want to go back, and get closer!

Other things I want to do: Wet & Wild has a water slide called The Black Hole. It's fully enclosed during the ride...And opaque.

Finally, for anyone who has never been to Florida in the summer (and I'm one of them!): They tell me it's hot and humid. Figure on temps in the 90s with Humidity above 70%. Even in November, the humidity was over 60%. Expect to drink a lot of water, and bring frequent changes of clothing. In the hotel or Civic Center should be okay, but you have to leave them on occasion...

And remember: NO FOOD OR DRINK is allowed into the OCCC, unless purchased from the food vendor IN the OCCC. They -WILL confiscate Coolers! (please note: All Upper Case lettering (i.e. EVerything!) is intentional.)

Action

POOF - January 1992

Mark L. Olson

13 January 1992

Since egoboo is the committee's only reward, a Worldcon runs on goodwill points. Goodwill reinforces itself. If you have goodwill points, then fans will forgive you your mistakes. If you lack them, they'll blame you for your successes. We want Magicon to have lots of goodwill points when it's over.

I believe that Magicon will be an interesting convention and will run smoothly. There will be no fiascos. So why belabor this business about goodwill points? Because there are a few areas that have uniquely high visibility and a correspondingly high opportunity to make Magicon look good. They're the areas that everyone notices either because everyone sees them (Registration and Newsletter) or because they are spotlighted (Hugos and Masquerade).

I think we ought to take special care that these areas shine.

Registration

Registration is probably the only area that absolutely every member of the con uses. Furthermore, they use it right at the start of the convention. If Registration runs well, fans will begin the con thinking good thoughts about us and will be more inclined to forgive us our inevitable lapses. If Reg is painful, they'll figure we're incompetent and look for and find further evidence.

So what should we do?

Take a look at Registration from a member's point of view. Ideally, a member arrive on site and goes to register. Registration takes a minute or two and a friendly staff gives them their spiffy badge, their publications and they go forth to enjoy the con. That's all a member wants, and that's the best we can give them. Added features (like a list of who has registered and who hasn't) might be nice, but only if they don't interfere with the basic function.

What could go wrong? Let's look at things that have gone wrong at past worldcons (no points for guessing where!):

- Registration opens hours late because the staff is still stuffing registration packets. (Moral: don't have packets!)

- The member arrives and their first contact with the convention is a long line for registration. (Moral: No lines! Never!)
- Worse: The member arrives and stands in line for 20 minutes only to discover that they are in the wrong line. (Moral: Have good signage! If (God forbid) a line develops, have staff walk along the lines, making sure people aren't waiting uselessly.)
- Lots of misspelled names on badges. (Solution: make the PR 7 label include the "name on badge" so people can tell us in advance that it's wrong. And then be sure it's quick and easy to replace badges.)
- The inevitable registration screw-ups occur, and people wait in line while the Registration staff tries to work things out. (Moral: when a problem occurs, take it off-line immediately. Never make other people wait while you solve problems.)
- Ms. Big Name Pro arrives and discovers that her registration is in Green Room. Her husband's (he's an artist who sells prints) is in the Dealer's Room (he looked in the Art Show first) and the kid's memberships are in regular registration (but under their last name, not hers). She discovers this by standing in line for ten minutes in regular registration. (Solution: if we must have multiple registration locations make damn sure that people know where to go, and when they go to the wrong place anyway, that it doesn't take them very long to find out.)
- A fan is not allowed to pick up his kid's badge.

Newsletter

Newsletter is one of the areas at Worldcon that just never seems to be done well. I don't know why this should be. (That's not entirely fair: ConFiction's newsletter was the best I can remember, and a few others have been OK.)

Partly, perhaps, it's because Newsletter is frequently treated as a stepchild to be foisted off and thereafter ignored. Partly because I think many committees never figure out that they want the newsletter to do, they just have one out of habit.

I think that Magicon's newsletter is there to make the con better for the members. (Lest this seem obvious, think back to how many newsletters seem to have had as their main purpose to be a personal zine to gratify the editors.) So what do our members want?

- Timely news and information
- Entertainment
- Gossip and personal news

What I think we should avoid is the use of the newsletter to attack people or groups. A personal attack is rarely productive, and is unlikely to make Magicon a better place.

I do realize that it's hard to separate "Gossip and personal news" from typical fannish backbiting, but we should try! It's exceedingly rare that saying something bad about a person in a convention newsletter makes anything better.

All of these problems can be avoided, some easier than others. The principles apply to every area:

- (1) The Show Must Go On. Just what is the fundamental purpose of each area? Understand that, and then put your efforts towards getting the basics right and leave the frills for later.
- (2) There will always be problems. No matter how competent and how skillful we are, there will always be problems. Design to minimize them. An over-complex plan might make the area work 5% better, but will mean that the inevitable problems will be much worse, or much harder to handle or — worst of all — disastrous, rather than just annoying.
- (3) There will always be problems: Design your area to handle them smoothly, quietly and quickly. Use triage: break problems into categories. Simple (fix it right away), Hopeless (buck it up the chain of command to someone who can make decisions), or Middling (push it off-line so that other people aren't waiting, but get it handled ASAP).
- (4) Plans always look better on paper than they work out in real life. "No battle plan ever survives engagement with the enemy." "Keep It Simple, Stupid!"

Exhibits Division Office

The Exhibits Division will have an office located somewhere on the floor of Halls B/C. We'll have phones, a copier, a Mac, office supplies, tables and chairs. It's available as a general resource for any area. If you expect to make heavy use of it, please let me know in advance so we'll be able to meet your needs. Otherwise, just use it when you need it.

Beepers

I've never liked beepers. Not only is an unnecessary beeper frequently the mark of a self-important nerd, but beepers combined with the old-style "Ops" usually meant that 45 minutes after you solved a problem, Ops would get around to beeping you to tell you about it.

At Noreascon Three, Jim Hudson got us to try a scheme that worked quite well and made beepers an effective part of the convention rather than a nuisance.

Essentially, we did away with the idea that Ops was in the middle of every communication. In the old style, a message from A to B was done by A calling Ops, who wrote down the message and then tried to pass it on to B. Why was Ops involved at all? Because we didn't have numeric beepers.

Numeric beepers beep, but also have a little readout which displays a 10-12 digit number entered by the person who called in the beep. Usually, the number is a call back number, but it can also be an agreed-upon code.

Now for A to call B, A dials B's beeper number (distributed by C&C in a phonelist which is updated frequently) and then, when prompted by the beeper system, types in his own number. A minute later B goes to a phone and calls A and they talk. Simple and direct.

C&C and Information still act as an interface for people who don't have a copy of the phone list (obviously, we don't distribute it to the whole con!).

The system works smoothly — over the whole course of Noreascon Three, I only got one pointless beep, and I think other people's experiences were the same.

Committee Den Data

Submitted By

Hi Folks! It's time to think about Ribbons for MagiCon. This year we are planning on using Hodges Badge Company out of Rhode Island. They are experienced with ribbon orders for science fiction conventions: Boskone has been using them since at least 1980, Lunacon for three years and Arisia would have used them also but there was a FedEx error in getting the order TO them. Worldcon usage has included Noreascon Two and Three, ConFiction and Lone Star Con (the Austin NASFiC in '85). They also produced the Hawaii in '93 ribbons.

There are two basic types of ribbons. "Rosettes" are used for awards such as the Art Show and Masquerade, and "ribbons" which are worn on badges. There are also neck medals and printed rolls of ribbon if there is a need.

Colors are as follows: blue, sapphire, turquoise, lt. blue, red, maroon, fuschia, rose, yellow, lemon, gold, cream, white, gray, black, pink, green, dk. green, Nile green, purple, lilac, peach, brown, tan, neon green, neon orange, and neon pink. There are also multicolored ribbons: rainbow, blue & white, red & white, red & white & blue, purple & white, purple & gold, and pink & green. And gingham ribbons in blue, red, yellow, black, pink, green, purple and brown.

Ink colors are as follows: gold, silver, copper, blue, fuschia, black, green, white, brown, red, orange and purple. Ink is either metallic or colored leaf.

Badge ribbons are usually used to signify that the wearer is due a specific honor (Chairman, Guest of Honor, Astronaut or Hugo Award Nominee), has an area admittance privilege (Huckster, Artist, Program Participant or Exhibitor), has a general level job (Committee, Staff, Gopher), or a specific job that has certain privileges (Usher, Photographer, Judge or Press). Obviously there are other titles, many of which are listed on the next page.

On the Ribbon Form, we need Division or Area heads to tell us: what ribbon titles you want, how many, and first, second & third choices for ribbon colors. We can't promise to give you the colors you ask for as we coordinate the entire order, so please tell us if there is a specific reason for wanting a certain color and we will take that into consideration. At this point the Committee color is likely to be Blue with Gold ink.

We believe that all ribbons for people working on MagiCon will be ordered by the Services Division, so if all you need for your area is Committee, Staff or Gopher, don't worry--it's covered. Please remember to make sure your committee and staff's names are in the Committee List since we will be getting our counts from there.

The price is likely to be 22¢ each for pinbacks or 15¢ each for tape ribbons. Which type is used depends on what type of badge we'll have (laminated badges get tape-backs, Stoffels' badges get pin-backs). There is a possibility of having enough ribbons to make the next price break in which case the per ribbon price is 19¢/12¢. Multicolored ribbons are 3¢ extra each. Each title adds $1.50. Please take this and your budget into consideration when ordering.

Here is a list of possible titles, you do NOT have to ask for it just because it's on the list. Also, you may ask for other titles within reason. Space Cadet was suggested as the name for gophers: that division should make a decision on this.

Chairman, Division Head, Committee, Staff, Gopher, Space Cadet, Guest of Honor, VIP, Guest, Astronaut, Hugo Award Nominee, Campbell Award Nominee, Program Participant, Filk Performer, Game Master, Extra Terrestrial Visitor, Artist, Huckster, Dealer, Masquerade Participant, Judge, Press, Feather Ceremony, Usher, Winner, Photographer, Exhibitor, Scavenger Hunt, Trivia Contest.

Rosette ordering and pricing is more complicated (depends on size and type of rosette; about $1.00 to $8.00 each plus $1.50 for each title change and $10.00 setup charge for each group of rosettes. Multicolored ribbon is extra.) Therefore, Division or Area Heads who want rosettes should contact us directly.

Past Art Show titles have included Amateur and Professional Division, Best of Show, Best Artist, Staff Choice, Chairman's Choice and Guest of Honor's Choice. Masquerade titles have included Master, Journeyman, Novice and Workmanship Divisions, Best in Show, Best in Class, First, Second, Third Place and Honorable Mention.

Summer is the busy season for ribbon manufacturers (horse shows) so to have the ribbons in time for MagiCon we need to have your requests by May 1, 1992 to allow time for order preparation, Division Head, Chairman and Treasurer review and getting a check.

We would like to help you with your order; please don't hesitate to call (we can even send photocopies of rosettes and act as "color/quantity consultants" if you need it). We will be at Boskone and Lunacon with catalogues and sample ribbon colors.
