Vision Statement

The Millennium Philcon will serve as a forum for people throughout the world for the discussion and promotion of the educational, creative, and innovative aspects of science fiction and fantasy in literature, the arts, the sciences, and the role of fandom.

The Millennium Philcon will:

- promote the educational, creative, and innovative aspects of all forms of science fiction and fantasy in literature and the arts;
- be true to the traditions of the World Science Fiction Convention, while being receptive to the possibilities for innovation presented by the new millennium;
- be inclusive and fan friendly, providing activities for all ages and interests within the science fiction fan community;
- promote the activities of other organizations and groups within the Greater Philadelphia area who are interested in the same subjects;
- encourage the appreciation of science fiction and fantasy in literature and the arts by younger generations;
- promote public interest in and knowledge of science and technology;
- promote the city of Philadelphia as a center of history, a place of cutting-edge science and technology, and a city worthy of visiting; and
- conduct all of the above in a manner consistent with our tax-exempt purposes.

A Message from the Chair

On behalf of the committee, thank you for your support for the Millennium Philcon. Our work has begun! Although, as I write this, there are still two and a half years to go, we've already started planning how to make our worldcon the best it can be — for both the attendees and the committee. As the first Worldcon of the third millennium, it seems appropriate that the Millennium Philcon should be a time and place for the SF community to gather and reflect on our journey so far. Accordingly, we plan some special items focusing on the history and future of science fiction, fandom and worldcons.

While we have a consensus on what we'll be trying to do, how to accomplish our vision is still in the planning stages. This is where we welcome help from all of you. Each of you has your own ideas about what makes a Worldcon special. For some it's the chance to meet a favorite author, for others the chance to renew old friendships. Perhaps it's the opportunity to show off that costume you've been working on for the past year, or to see that movie you missed in a setting more like a movie theater, rather than on the small screen. Whatever you're looking for in a Worldcon, let us know. As much as we'd like to, we know we can't give everyone everything they want. Still, despite our considerable Worldcon experience, there are great ideas out there that we haven't thought of. Please, tell us your ideas, your suggestions, what you want to see, and we'll try to make it happen. Maybe you'll find that someone else is looking for the same thing.

If you want to help us make the Millennium Philcon the best Worldcon ever, why not consider volunteering for an area that interests you, and help make your ideas a reality? Worldcons these days need literally hundreds of people to make them happen, and we welcome anyone who's interested in helping out, at whatever level. Send us your name and address and let us know what you're interested in doing. Once we've appointed the division and department heads for that area, someone will contact you. Don't delay, act today! Limited time available to be a part of the first Worldcon of the new Millennium. This offer not to be repeated for one thousand years.

Sincerely,
Todd Dashoff

Fun in Philadelphia

by Margaret Trebing

We're planning to throw a great worldcon, but even the best can't rivet everyone's attention all the time. For those times when your schedule is empty, or if you're staying a few extra days, here are a few of the other things to see and do in Philadelphia.

Museums

Philadelphia is known for its large number of museums.

The Academy of Natural Sciences, founded in 1812, is the oldest science research institute in the Western Hemisphere. Exhibits include the newly-renovated Dinosaur Hall, a living butterfly habitat, 19th century diorama halls (showcasing wildlife from every continent in recreated natural habitats), the beautiful Hall of Gems and Minerals and a changing variety of exhibits focused on evolution, biology, wildlife and the natural world.

The Franklin Institute Science Museum is a state-of-the-art science museum with four floors of interactive exhibits. Walk through a huge model of the human heart, watch massive bolts of lightning generated in the weather exhibit, explore the Futures Center (changing exhibits spotlighting cutting-edge and future technologies), see the stars or a laser light show at the Fels Planetarium, and watch a movie on the giant IMAX screen.

The Philadelphia Museum of Art displays masterpieces of painting, sculpture, prints and drawings spanning more than 2,000 years and representing Asia, Europe and the United States. The museum also hosts special and traveling exhibits.

The Barnes Foundation, in the suburbs, boasts one of the world's finest collections of Post-Impressionist and early French modern art. It holds works by Renoir, Cezanne, Matisse, Picasso and Modigliani.

At the Independence Seaport Museum, visitors can explore the city's maritime history, and tour the USS Olympia (Admiral Dewey's flagship) and the WWII submarine USS Becuna.

The Mummers' Museum displays costumes and history from this uniquely Philadelphia tradition. Free outdoor concerts are held every Tuesday at 8:00 PM.

Other museums in or near Philly include: Afro-American Historical and Cultural Museum, Balch Institute for Ethnic Studies; Civil War Library and Museum; Curtis Center Museum of Norman Rockwell Art (more than 600 paintings); Mutter Museum (medical history and curiosities); National Museum of American Jewish History; Please Touch Museum (a paradise for children); University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology (mummies, 12-ton Sphinx, architectural remains from Egyptian palace of Merenptah, Sumerian cuneiform tablets, lots more); Rodin Museum (the largest collection of Rodin sculptures and drawings outside of Paris, including "The Thinker"), The Brandywine River Museum (known for its collection of art by the Wyeths) and Steve's Insectarium (a live insect zoo).

Historic Philadelphia

Independence National Park is sometimes called "America's Most Historic Square Mile". In this small area, the most important event in the history of the United States took place — its creation.

The heart of the Park is Independence Hall. Built in 1732 as the Pennsylvania State House, and renovated in the 19th century, it now stands exactly as it was in 1776. It was within its walls that the Declaration of Independence was adopted, and the Constitution drafted and signed.

Across from Independence Hall, hangs the world's most well-known symbol of freedom, The Liberty Bell. This Bell rang from the steeple of Independence Hall on July 8, 1776 to summon the people of Philadelphia to hear the first reading of the Declaration of Independence.

Also among the more than a dozen historical monuments in the Park is Carpenter's Hall, where the First Continental Congress met in 1774. At 6th St. is Congress Hall where the Senate and the House of Representatives met while Philadelphia was the nation's capital. At the end of a narrow, cobblestone street is Christ Church, where George Washington and Benjamin Franklin worshipped. The grave of Benjamin Franklin is located in its burial ground.

Of course Philadelphia's historical area is larger than Independence National Park. Throughout Old City stand historical landmarks spanning the 18th through 20th centuries. The house where Betsy Ross sewed the first American flag still stands and is open to visitors. Elfreth's Alley, a beautiful row of 33 colonial and Federal style homes, is the oldest continuously occupied residential street in the country. Pennsylvania Hospital, the nation's first hospital, founded by Benjamin Franklin, is here, as is Mikveh Israel, the country's second-oldest Jewish congregation (founded 1740).

Many tours of Historic Philadelphia are available, on foot (including by candlelight), by bus or trolley, and by horse-drawn carriage. Every day throughout the summer Historic Philadelphia is filled with music, arts and crafts demonstrations and costumed colonial characters performing vignettes of daily life in colonial times. You can even meet Ben himself!

The Avenue of the Arts

We still call it Broad Street, but this stretch of downtown Philly is now officially The Avenue of the Arts, with (at present) 16 new and renovated performance and visual arts facilities. The Avenue is anchored by The Academy of Music, the oldest grand opera house still in use in the USA, and the home of the world-renowned Philadelphia Orchestra, the Pennsylvania Ballet and the Opera Company of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia Zoo

This 42-acre park is the first zoo in America. Although historic, it has been brought completely up-to-date, with modern, open-habitat enclosures and state-of-the-art exhibits. The zoo cares for more than 1,700 animals. The brand-new PECO Primate Center opens this summer.

NJ State Aquarium

The Aquarium is located in Camden, NJ, right across the Delaware River from Penn's Landing. Ferries run regularly from the waterfront to the aquarium and back. The aquarium includes over 80 exhibits with more than 4,000 fish and aquatic animals of some 500 species. The award-winning main exhibit, Ocean Base Atlantic, takes visitors from a Caribbean beach and ends at the 760,000 gallon Open Ocean Tank. In this giant tank swim many kinds of ocean fish as well as two dozen sharks.

Other Distractions

There's not much in the way of food that can't be found in Philadelphia. All price ranges, all cuisines. If you like Chinese, you can try a different place every day—our 16-square-block Chinatown is right across the street from the Convention Center.

Our restaurant guide will be quite a tome, and while we aren't ready to start writing it yet, we do feel it's worth noting that some of our restaurants have become nationally known. Le Bec Fin, for example, was declared the finest French restaurant in America by Gourmet Magazine. Susanna Foo's (asian-fusion) and Striped Bass (seafood) have also garnered quite a reputation. We have brew pubs, we have soft pretzels, we have cheesesteaks and, oh yes, Philadelphia is the only place on earth where you can get a real hoagie.

Philadelphia's nightlife seems to just keep getting livelier. Our newest hotspot is Columbus Boulevard (locals still call it Delaware Avenue), where restaurants and clubs continue to sprout like mushrooms along the Delaware River. Dave and Buster's, which must be the region's biggest video arcade with 330+ games, is down here. They're into virtual reality games — who knows what those will be like in 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ years?

South Street with more than 250 shops, restaurants, and clubs, is our own version of Greenwich Village. There are amazing and unique places here: art, antiques, jewelry, unique artisan crafts, punk, new-age, ethnic and exotic retailers, as well as all kinds of food and entertainment, and some really good new and used bookstores.

Disney Quest, a sort of smaller, indoor Disney World, will have been built on Market St. near the Convention Center by 2001.

Fairmount Park, which is the nation's largest urban park and is part of the National Park Service, offers many miles of trails and wild natural scenery.

Within the Delaware Valley region:

New Jersey's wild, protected Pine Barrens, offers canoeing, fishing, camping, birdwatching and hiking.

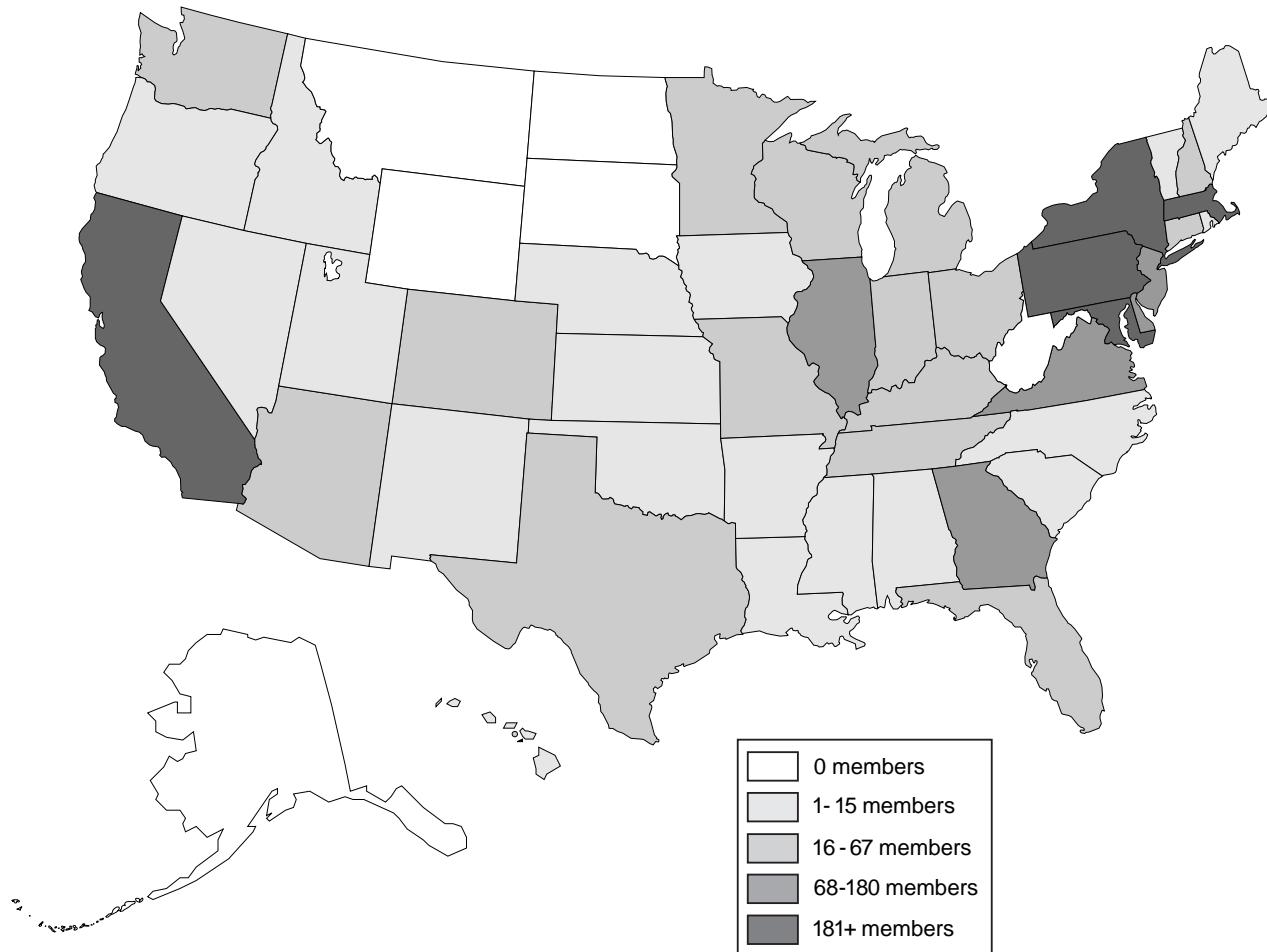

The beautiful white sand beaches of the Jersey shore from the casinos of Atlantic City, to the family resort of Ocean City and its boardwalk, to the amusement piers of Wildwood and down to historic, Victorian Cape May are all only 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours from Philadelphia.

Tubing down the upper Delaware River is a great way to spend a hot summer day. Or shop in New Hope for unique (many of the artists live here) art, crafts and antiques. Don't miss Lambertville, an antiques paradise, on the other side of the river (pedestrian bridge) from New Hope.

The region boasts numerous amusement parks. Great Adventure in Jackson NJ, is about 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ hours away. The smaller, but no less fun Clementon Lake Park in Clementon NJ, is closer, and Sesame Place, a children's theme park featuring the characters of Sesame Street is about 45 minutes away in Langhorne PA. Further out, but still doable in a day (about two hours) are Hershey Park in Hershey PA, and Dorney Park and Wildwater Kingdom in Allentown PA.

The vast Amish country of Lancaster County is only an hour or two away. Horse-drawn buggy tours, visits to working Amish farms, films and demonstrations of the Amish way of life, and the famous Amish "family style" restaurants are all part of this experience. Also in this area are the historic steam-powered Strasburg Railroad, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Museum.

Progress Report Schedule and Ad Rates

The Millennium Philcon will be mailing two kinds of publications: brief newsletters (Millennium Philcon Flash), and Progress Reports (Poor Richard's Almanack). The newsletters will be published as needed for information we want to present quickly to the members. The Progress Report will be the traditional preconvention publication. We will be publishing about two Progress Reports each year.

Progress Report 2 will be published in mid-November. We will be selling ads in the Progress Reports. The deadline for PR2 will be October 1, 1999. The ad rates for PR2 are:
