Spokane is the second largest city in Washington, and the largest between Seattle and Minneapolis. Spokane offers the kinds of attractions and amenities you would expect from a city the size of Seattle, but without all of the rain and traffic. In fact, the average number of sunny days in Spokane per year is 260. Known for its untamed beauty and fantastic outdoor activities just minutes away, it's no wonder that Spokane's motto is: "Near nature, near perfect."

The Spokane Convention Center is in the center of the city of Spokane, adjacent to the Centennial Trail; the Spokane River; and Riverfront Park, which was the site of the 1974 World's Fair. The property has four buildings: the Riverside Exhibit Hall, the Doubletree Hotel, the Conference Building, and the INB Performing Arts Center, as well as some outdoor function areas. The jewel of the convention center is the Performing Arts Center, a 2700-seat theater most often used as a venue for touring Broadway musicals and plays. With tiered seating and balconies, every seat has a good view of the stage. Built-in speakers and sound tech as well as full theatrical lighting mean that the only tech we'll have to deploy is some microphones.
