IT'S COMING...

Hello friends, I'm your Publications Dude, and let's talk about Fall. Yes, Fall, the beginning of those few precious months when the temperature in the Valley drops, and you can finally dig into the back of your closet for your specialty garb. Long sleeves, long coats, long scarves and anything else to pull off your Time Lord costume. Always a good idea to get a jump on the Doctor Who fiftieth anniversary programming we've got for DarkCon 2014! Halloween's over, but why put away the cosplay when we'll only be pulling it out again in a couple months? And that's not all you'll have to look forward to, this January! More guest news, gaming, and then after hours? Oooh la la. So come one, come all, but please come for everything I have to give in this latest DarkCon Bulletin.

USS ARTEMIS

Space... the ultimate target-rich environment. These are the voyages of the starship Artemis, and its sister ships, in their ongoing mission to blow the crap out of marauders and each other. Gather your command staff and sign up for this popular starship bridge simulator, and reenact your favorite space battle versus another crew!

GUEST NEWS!

I'll bet you thought we were all done lining up the talent for this show. Oh, faithless, how dare you doubt us... we still had a few surprises for the guest list.

LOCK S-FOILS

Star Wars fans, rejoice! DarkCon is thrilled to announce that Michael Stackpole, author of the X-Wing series and numerous Star Wars comics for Dark Horse, will be joining us this January! Michael will be happy to discuss his contributions to the Star Wars universe, as well as his Age of Discovery trilogy and an upcoming novel for the World of Warcraft.

I CONFESS...

Susan Wright, the best-selling author of over 30 novels and nonfiction books on art and popular culture, will also be joining us! Susan will be on hand to discuss her books in the supernatural romance and Star Trek genres, as well as her work as the Founder and Spokesperson for the National Coalition for Sexual Freedom, a national organization committed to protecting freedom of sexual expression among consenting adults.

SHALL WE PLAY A GAME?

TIME LORD'S BALL

A 50th Anniversary is reason enough for a party! The Dark Ones and AZ TARDIS will be bringing all kinds of wibbly wobbly timey wimey fun, so remember to bring your banana on Saturday night! But watch out for the costume contest, and anyone resembling a madman with a box...

PAJAMA TIME

Don't you dare miss this one last hurrah! Some conventions have a Dead Dog Party to wind down their weekend, but for DarkCon, that's just not our style! Stick around as we crank up the party that Sunday night with our famous DarkCon Pajama Party. So don't check out, and don't plan on driving home just yet (at least not without a designated driver), you just might miss something! Come party into the night with the other attendees brave enough to stay for this legendary event. The bar'll still be flowing, and there'll be a raffle for prizes, but ONLY to those in attendance. C'mon, you know you won't want the weekend to end without a proper send-off!

GEAR UP FOR FUN

Connect with Arizona's Steampunkers, and dance fanciers in DarkCon's premier musical event, the ever-popular Steampunk party on Friday night. In the infamous Dark Suite there will be cordials presented by Craig of the White Cliffs; with food and snacks for those who feel peckish during the party.

As part of the festivities, DarkCon is proud to present for your listening pleasure the music of Arizona's only local Irish rock band, Keltic Cowboys! Join us as we kick it 'Irish style' with the Arizona's premier Irish Rock Band.
