Worldcon is the annual convention of the World Science Fiction Society (WSFS). The event was first held in 1939 and, after a hiatus during World War II, has been held continuously since 1946. The membership of WSFS is every member of the current Worldcon.

Worldcon is the site of the presentation of the annual Hugo Awards. First presented in 1953 and presented annually since 1955, the Hugo Awards are science fiction's most prestigious award. The Hugo Awards are voted on by members of the World Science Fiction Convention, which is also responsible for administering them.

The Southern California Institute for Fan Interests (SCIFI), Inc., is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation, established for the promotion and conduct of conferences, conventions or congresses relating to the field of Science Fiction and Fantasy. SCIFI, Inc. is the past sponsor of the 1984, 1996 and 2006 Los Angeles World Science Fiction Conventions; the 1999 North American Science Fiction Convention (NASFIC); the 2019 World Fantasy Convention; the 1989, 1994 and 2002 West Coast Science Fantasy Conferences (Westercons); and the 1994 and 2014 SMOFCons.

“World Science Fiction Society”, “WSFS”, “World Science Fiction Convention”, “Worldcon” and “Hugo Award” are service marks of Worldcon Intellectual Property, a California non-profit corporation managed by the Mark Protection Committee of the World Science Fiction Society, an unincorporated literary society.
