FIRST PROGRESS REPORT

ConTroll Escape?

A word from the Chair

It was to be expected. When you show up at the Dutch SF&F conventions regularly, and you even start to do program items: one day you end up as organizer of a con. Completely voluntary, with a laser gun pointed at your head, you stammer 'er, yeah?' when they ask you whether you'd like to organize a convention for a change (because otherwise you won't have anything to do next November).

May I heartily recommend: our very first home-made con: ConTroll. Warm, cosy, ever so slightly rancid, noisy, crazy for good food and good company. With a brilliantly neurotic side to it and a hang for senseless conversation. Controll No Escape.

Guests of Honour

Edith Eri Louw

Edith is the author of 2 Dutch-language fantasy novels: Raven's imperium (2001) and De Bron (2006). Both stories take place in the same fantastic world. Besides fantasy she also wrote a series of children's books about horses (Ponyhof). Edith gives writer's workshops and also enjoys working with horses a lot. According to her, she never became a writer, but always was one.

Paul McAuley

Paul has already written a great number of novels. His first novel, Four Hundred Billion Stars, won the Philip K. Dick Memorial Award, and his fifth, Fairyland, won the Arthur C. Clarke and John W. Campbell Awards. His latest novels are Players and Cowboy Angels, both published in 2007. Paul used to work as a research biologist in various universities, and for six years was a lecturer in botany at St Andrews University. Paul is now a full time writer of science fiction and science thrillers. He lives in North London.
