Rates: £20 attending, £10 supporting until 31/12/94; thereafter £25 attending, £10 supporting until 31/3/95. Children born after 13/4/81 pay £10 attending; children born after 13/4/87 do not have to pay, but can join the convention (and get a badge) for £1 if they like.

Confabulation is designed to be small and friendly, as Eastercons go. We intend it to have a fairly light programme, and not be too large. We're not publicising the convention outside the fannish community, and we're aiming to have about 750 members. Although we can go a bit bigger than that, we may be forced at some point to close membership. You have been warned.

In order to get a clear idea of numbers, we are encouraging people to join in advance. If you try to join Confabulation on the door it will cost you a great deal of money; considerably more than normal Eastercon on-the-door rates. Our day membership rates will also be unreasonably high, as we do not want half of London descending on us.

If you are not sure whether you want to come to Confabulation, or can't afford the attending membership right now, we recommend you buy a supporting membership. Supporting members will be able to convert to attending or day membership on the door at a reasonable rate, even if we have closed membership. Postal memberships will be taken up to 31/3/95 and then no more. If you don't have an attending or supporting membership by then, you are doomed. Doomed, I tell you.
