Corflu Glitter Debuts the Chamberlain Collection!

Ross Chamberlain's 2012 Corflu Glitter tee-shirt won't be available until the convention, but no fan need go Ross-less until next April. Fan art connoisseurs, collectors and Fans of Distinction can now obtain items enhanced by the Ross' artistry.

Don Miller, the amiable proprietor of Corflu Glitter's Café Press store, has readied a selection of merchandise embellished with Ross Chamberlain's iconic drawing of Jophan brandishing his Shield of Umor.

The items in the Chamberlain Collection include: Wall clock ($10.99), golf shirt ($16.99), 3.5-in. button ($3.45), 2.5-in. button ($2.99) and oval aluminum key chain ($6.99). Watch for additional items, coming soon. Corflu and the artist will share the profits from the sale of Chamberlain Collection

Don't forget the Corflu Glitter logo merchandise, which is also available at the same location. Check out the store at: <http://www.cafepress.com/CorfluGlitter>.

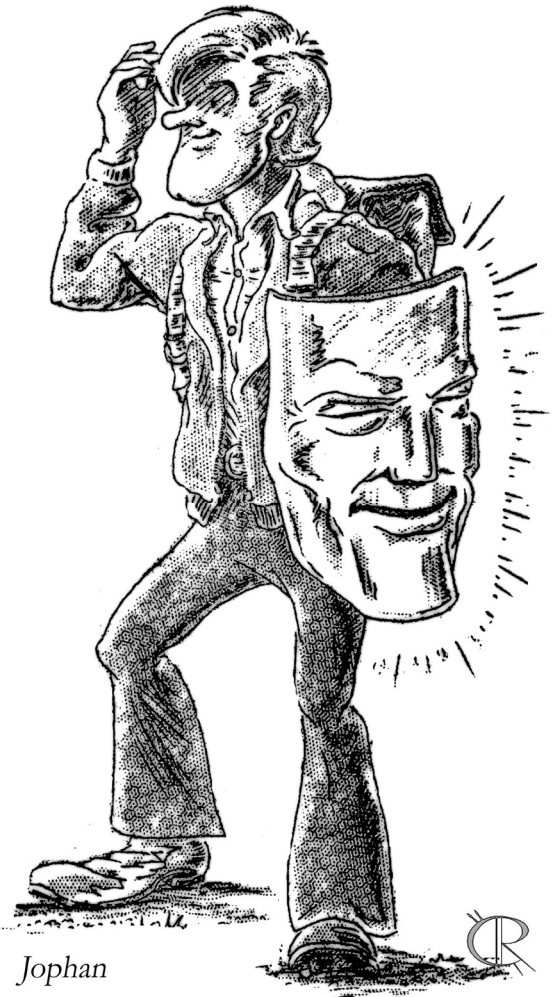

We've received inquiries about Corflu Silver merchandise.

Our cupboard is bare, but Bill Mills still operates a Café Press store (www.cafepress.com/corflsilver) that offers a variety of Corflu Silver items, including the incredible Chamberlain Corflu Silver tee-shirt (which I am wearing).

Corflu Glitter Auction Adds Fannish Artifact

A pair of seemingly ordinary pottery cups with a fascinating fannish history will be auctioned off at Corflu Glitter. The two green cups, each filled to the brim with pennies, has a longer pedigree than most Trufans!

It became a fannish artifact in 1962. That's when Terry Carr started collecting change to give to Walt Willis when Walter came to the ChiCon III on the wings of the “WAW and the Crew in ‘62” special fund. As things turned out, Terry gave Willis more than the cash equivalent and kept the cups as a souvenir.

He kept them for nearly a decade before donating the cups and a heap of pennies to the Bob Shaw Fund. When the BNF and professional SF author visited Brooklyn before heading to Boston for the 1971 Noreascon, BoSh didn’t react want the pennies, so I (Arnie) gave him paper money – and kept the jars and their contents.

Now, 40 years later, you can own this prime piece of fanhistory and help Corflu Glitter pay its bills by bidding on the Fan Fund Cups at the Corflu Glitter auction.

If you have fanzines or artifacts to contribute to the auction, please contact Joyce Katz (joyceworley1@cox.net).

Corflu Glitter needs the money and besides, the annual auction is an excellent way to convey fannish treasures to a new generation.

LAA Nominations Close Next Tuesday!!

If you want your chance to nominate a worthy fan for the 2012 Lifetime Achievement Award, you have until Tuesday, September 6, 2011.

The Lifetime Achievement Award, to be presented at the Corflu Glitter banquet, honors a living fan for the quality and quantity of his or her contributions to Fandom.

Nominating is quick and painless. Hit “reply” to the email that brought you this Glitter. Put “LAA” and candidate’s name on the subject line or in the body, press “send” and your preference will be recorded. (If you get Glitter at www.Corflu.org, send an email to crossfire4@Cox.net with that subject line.)

That’s All for Now

This completes a half-year of weekly publication. Thank you all for your support. Glitter returns next Friday. Meanwhile, keep fanning! — Arnie
