

Progress Report 7

August 2004

The Utilitarian Issue!

In this issue, we tell you where to go and how to get there, what's going on and who is doing it -- and when!

COME TO FIRST NIGHT!

We invite your participation in our opening night of fun and frolic:

First Night Noreascon

Thursday, September 2

7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Hynes Convention Center

Costumes and fancy dress encouraged!

First Night is your chance to sample what the convention has to offer, in the festive atmosphere of a street fair. We'll have games and demonstrations, music and dance, jugglers and magicians, face painting, balloon animals, and a caricature artist.

Radiating out from the central Midway, First Night will have activities throughout the Hynes second floor.

In the ConCourse, you'll have a chance to tour the many exhibits based on our Guests of Honor and fannish history, in addition to a fabulous collection of costumes from past masquerades. The Mended Drum will have fannish entertainment and refreshments, and you just might find a few familiar characters from the works of our Terry Pratchett lurking about. In the nearby Fan Lounge, you'll get a chance to contribute to the First Night One-Shot Fanzine, and at Sales to Members you'll be able to purchase a souvenir t-shirt or our guest of honor books.

Down the hall, in Room 210, Club SF will be running throughout the evening. Items we have on tap include a Thomas the Rhymer show by Ellen Kushner, a short preview of The Filkado (which will be presented in full later in the convention), and William Tenn's humorous reading of "On Venus Have We Got a Rabbi".

The program division has prepared a feast of short, light program items to add to First Night. Come prepared to contribute to "Live Fancyclopedia" (fannish anecdotes) or your favorite 5-minute reading. Or perhaps compete in Punday or the Trivia Bowl, or fannish charades. We'll bring you the Midwest favorite, "Ask Dr. Mike", and we're still working on "Fannish Eye for the Mundane Guy".

In the media department, the secondary film room will be showing previews and short clips of some of the films that will be presented during the run of the convention, and Bob Eggleton may show some of his treasured Godzilla footage.

At one end of the Midway, in Room 200, you'll find the Ankh Morpork Ball, where you can dance to just about any type of music. Bring your favorite tunes to add to the excitement.

Upstairs, the Art Show and the Retrospective Art Exhibit will be open for viewing and docent tours. And in the hall below, we'll have a special part of the Midway set aside for artists, with artist demonstrations and program items (such as a Cartoon Jam or a Pictionary competition).

In the Midway, we'll have game booths sponsored by various fan clubs (complete with silly prizes), along with more entertainment, like belly dancers, jugglers, and magicians. There will also be things you can participate in; a theremin you can actually try to play yourself, origami lessons, learn to juggle 3 balls in 30 minutes, or play blackjack (for fun) with a professional dealer.

We're hoping that a lot of you will come in costume, and we'll have hall costume awards and will try to have a hall costume photo area. And for those of you who can't manage a costume in advance, we're hoping to set up an Instant Masquerade program item that will give you some assistance. There also will be a children's costume corner where we'll supply materials and help for kids to make their own magic wand or sparkle crown.

And those are only the activities we know about so far. We're still working on ideas, and we hope that when you come to First Night, you'll find lots of surprises and have plenty of things to choose from.

We'd be happy to have additional helpers and performers, so if you haven't contacted us yet, please write today to FirstNight@noreascon.org telling us your interests.

We're looking forward to seeing you on Thursday night!

The ConCourse

Take a room, a BIG room — over 35,000 square feet (3,000+ square meters). Make it out of concrete and install an ugly concrete pillar every 30 feet. That's Exhibit Hall C of the Hynes.

But, as they say in the real estate business, location, location, location. And this room is between the Hugos/Masquerade and the Dealers' Room, between the Sheraton and the Program rooms, between Pegistration and the Art Show, between where you are and where you're going.

Now install some carpeting, decorations, signs, banners. Bring in lots of couches, chairs, and tables. Build a pub (The Mended Drum) and open a restaurant (rat on a stick?!?). Display 50 Hugos, one from every year. Get NASA's full-scale replica of Goddard's first liquid fueled rocket and maybe a moon rock or two. Pictures from the Space Telescope. The Fan Lounge. Costumes. Lights. Fannish history. Site selection voting. Exhibits about all our Guests of Honor. E-mail access and wireless. Convention and restaurant information. The convention's newspaper. And lots more.

Add thousands of fans, and you'll have the ConCourse. Open for First Night and then 9 AM to 2 AM daily. It's our social center, nightclub, museum, and park. Pick a spot, sit down, and everyone you know will walk by at some point. Or walk through to find your friends and lots of surprises. You may not even notice the concrete.

Taking your camera to the con?

Remember us when you get home! The committee won't get to see a lot of the con but we would appreciate your sharing your con with us. And if something amusing happens to you, or something wicked cool, we'd like to hear about it!

Right now we're not sure if we'll produce a memory book of Noreascon Four, but if we do, we'd like to include some of your memories. For a memory book, we will be looking for print-quality photos, newspaper stories, con reports, and more anecdotes.

Please send us email at memories@noreascon.org and let us know if you've got material we might be able to use. (At the very least, we'd like to post links to some of your web-based material on our site.)

Chairman's Letter:

Well. Here we are. My, my. By the time you read this, we'll be a few short weeks from the convention – the 62nd Worldcon. And even though we've been planning this for three years, it's hard to believe you'll all be here very soon.

This Progress Report is designed to provide you with a bunch of last-minute information to make your experience the best it can be. But we know there are probably bits and pieces you want to know that we may not have included. So, if you have last-minute questions, many of the answers will be on our web site (at www.noreascon.org), and you can send us email (info@noreascon.org) or postal mail.

Our web site includes information about who's coming, what sorts of program items and events we'll be having, exhibits you can expect to see, and a lot of special touches we have planned. The preliminary schedule will be posted there in August, so you can start planning what to see and do.

The physical nexus of our convention will be the ConCourse, located in Exhibit Hall C. There, you'll find our exhibits (from space to costuming, from fandom past to high-tech future), information services, the Mended Drum Pub, places to sit and chat with friends (we're ordering a hundred or so comfy couches), and paths that will lead you to some of the best programming at any convention, an art show to boggle the imagination, and a dealers' room where you'll have way too many temptations.

We want this to be a Worldcon you'll never forget. After it's all over, please let us know how well we succeeded!

Safe journeys, and we'll see you in September.

Getting to Noreascon 4

More extensive directions are on our website at:
www.noreascon.org/membserv/directions.html

BY CAR:

From the North (Northeastern Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, and adjacent parts of Canada): Take I-93 south to exit 26 (Storrow Drive/North Station), which is a very long, swooping, single-lane freeway of an “exit ramp.” Fork left off that onto Storrow Drive.

From the West:

Take I-90, the Massachusetts Turnpike, known as the Mass. Pike. (If you are coming north on I-95, take I-91 to I-84 in Connecticut.) This is a toll road, with an automatic toll-taking service called Fast Lane. The Fast Lane system also accepts E-Z Pass transponders. After the Allston-Brighton tolls, stay on the Pike east to Exit 22.

From the Southwest (Rhode Island & eastern Connecticut) Take I-95 north until it intersects the Mass. Pike (on Route 128, at Exit 25). Take the Pike east to Exit 22. (See above.)

From the Southeast

(southeastern Massachusetts) Take I-93 (Route 3, Route 1) north. Take Exit 18 onto the Massachusetts Avenue Connector. Turn right onto Mass. Ave. After crossing Albany, Washington, Tremont, and Columbus, turn right onto Huntington Avenue.

To get to the Sheraton: Take the first left, onto Belvidere Street, and turn right into the Sheraton entryway.

BY AIR

Logan International Airport (abbreviation “BOS”) is in Boston. Shuttles ($10) from it serve all the major hotels. There are multiple shuttle companies, each on a 20-minute cycle, so the wait between shuttles should always be less than 20 minutes. The trip from the airport to Noreascon’s hotels is about 30 minutes.

BY TRAIN

Boston is a major hub for Amtrak. The Downeaster, coming from Maine, comes into North Station. It is best to take a taxi from there to the Sheraton or the Marriott if you have luggage. Trains from other parts of the country terminate in South Station. They pass through Back Bay Station (abbreviation “BBY”), on Dartmouth Street, just on the far side of Copley Place from the Marriott. Prudential Center is diagonally across from the Marriott, and the Sheraton is on the far side of that.

BY BUS

Boston is served by the major bus lines: Bonanza, Greyhound, Peter Pan, and is served by more local services, such as Plymouth & Brockton, Concord and C & J Trailways. For very inexpensive travel between New York City and Boston, there is the Fung Wah bus.

BY SUBWAY (the MBTA)

The Hynes Convention Center, the Sheraton hotel, and the Marriott hotel are all on the Green Line. If you exit the Green Line at the Hynes/ICA stop, take the Massachusetts Avenue exit and turn left. Turn left again onto Boylston Street. Cross the street at the Dalton Street intersection.

This is the entrance to the Hynes; going straight on Dalton takes you to the Sheraton. If you exit the Green Line at Copley Place, walk west (towards traffic) on Boylston Street to Ring Road. Turn left on it, and walk one long block to Huntington Avenue. The Marriott is across the street.

More information about travel to and from Noreascon 4, and about travel around Boston, is available on our website, at www.noreascon.org/membserv/directions.html. You may write us for information at Noreascon 4 Information, P.O. Box 1010, Framingham, MA 01701, or at info@noreascon.org.

Parking

Each of Noreascon's venues has extensive parking. The Prudential Center underground garage connects to the Sheraton Boston, the Hynes Convention Center, and the Pru's shopping mall. The Copley Place underground parking garage connects to the Marriott Copley Place, and to its own shopping mall. The Sheraton valet rate is $35 per day, the Marriott's valet park is $37. Self-park at the hotels is $31-33 per day (with no in-and-out privileges) depending on exactly where you end up. There are other nearby parking lots and garages, including one up Dalton Street, across from the Sheraton, and one under Christian Science Church Park, also near the Sheraton.

For less expensive parking, you must go farther afield, and accept a certain amount of inconvenience. There are many commuter parking lots outside the city, where one can park and take public transit into town. The most useful of these is Riverside, the MBTA station nearest the intersection of the Mass. Pike (I-90) and Route 128. Take Route 128 south to Exit 22, the Grove Street exit, and follow it east (right) for a mile. It has an enormous open lot, and permits overnight parking, paid for in advance. Travel from there is on the Green line of "the T" which takes you directly to the Hynes and Copley Place stations. There is a larger parking garage, at the Alewife MBTA station on Route 2. Travel from there is on the Red line. Transfer from the Red line at Park Street to the Green line (outbound) will take you to the Hynes and Copley Place stations.

For a more extensive description of these and other parking options, please visit www.noreascon.org/memberv/parking.html or write us at: Noreascon 4 Information, P.O. Box 1010, Framingham, MA 01701-1010.

Eyeglasses For Charity

What do most fans have in common besides being charming, witty, good looking, and humble? Well, they do have a tendency to need corrective lens. And fans also have a tendency to collect things, like a few pairs of old eyeglasses. These eyeglasses can be put to good use. Charitable organizations like VOSH (Volunteer Optometric Services to Humanity, www.vosh.org) will distribute them to needy persons in the Third World. So if you should happen to have some old eyeglasses, contact lens, or even nonprescription sunglasses why don't you bring them to Noreascon. There will be a collection bin or box near Information.

Do some good and free up shelf space for more books or cats. Thank You.

Registration

Registration for Noreascon Four will take place in Hall A of the Hynes Convention Center. The easiest way to reach us is via the Prudential Mall Plaza entrance to the Hynes.

If it is incorrect, please write to prereg@noreascon.org ASAP with the correction. We will not be printing fan names on badges, but we will be happy to quote it in the middle of your full name as long as it fits. Your PR label should already reflect any requests we have received.

Registration is available online at www.noreascon.org/masquerade/registration-form.html. The Masquerade Registration Desk will be open daily, Thursday through Sunday morning. Please check the website www.noreascon.org/masquerade or at-con for updated hours and location.

Dances

Noreascon will have dances for everyone, from children to adults.

Thursday evening, visit the Ahkh Morpork Ball and dance to some of the best music from today and the last 500 years. On Friday, attend the Regency Ball, precepted by John Hertz, and enjoy an elegant afternoon of dancing and cards.

After the Retro Hugos, join us at the Noreascon4 Sock Hop and dance the night away to the music of the Indian Hill Big Band.

Other events will include a children's dance for toddlers to pre-teens and (hopefully) a Steam Punk dance as well. We are doing our best to give you more dancing at Noreascon 4 than ever before. Program Information

Program Highlights

What can we tell you, really?

We said we were going to have a huge program, and that sure is happening. (In fact the program head is beginning to worry it's almost too big.....be very afraid....)

Program items will run from 1/2 hour to 3 hours, and will include award ceremonies (Locus, Spectrum, Prometheus, Golden Ducks, and more), auctions (SFWA, TAFF/DUFF), special presentations from outside the SF community (on everything from Snowball Earth to Affectionate Technology to the MIT Media Lab Presents!), Junkyard Wars, "The Filkado," orientation "Village Tours" of the convention, and more!

What more, you ask....Well, here's a selection:

How to Become Invisible, Personnel Problems of Extraterrestrials in Earth Industries, The Future of Peace, When is a Cyborg?, Alternate Law, Riding the Slipstream, Pulp Eye for the Art Guy (and Fannish Eye for the Mundane Guy!), The Monster in the Maze, When Fandom Hurts, Girl Power – Anime Style, Alien Ethical Systems, Enjoying J.D. Robb, The Virtual Manifest: Solaris and the Persistence of Memory (what, you're not an academic?), You Can't Take the Sky From Me, The Feng-shui of Program, Deep Time, The Two Sides of Gollum, The Return of 20 Panels an Hour, The Fermi Paradox, The Numinous in SF and Fantasy, The Bodice Fights Back!, Creating Gods, and (our personal favorite) Give Me Back the Rabbit and Nobody Gets Hurt.

It looks like fun.

The Gadget Panel — Show us your stuff!

Fans love the latest gadgets, probably because so much of SF is leavened with really neat fun toys that we'd all like to have. I've always wanted a blaster, for instance. We can't show you a blaster (they're probably banned in Boston, anyway), but here's a chance for you to come and see and show the latest and greatest fun tech toys.

We need your help: Have you got an interesting recent gadget you could show? Bring the sublime (anyone got a handheld translator that really works?) as well as the ridiculous (e.g., Swiss Army knives that have embedded LEDs to glow in the dark). Whether they are computer gadgets, tools or exotic kitchen appliances, the only requirements are that they are (a) interesting, (b) portable, and (c) legal.

The panel is presently scheduled for 5pm Saturday, but be sure to check the Convention Guide for the actual time.

TAFF/DUFF

Auction will take place Sunday 2pm in room 205 in the Hynes

Children's Program

We are hoping to do some tours of the convention (art show, behind-the-scenes with Tech, etc.) as part of our Children's (7-12) Program. However, we will only be able to do this if we have qualified volunteers to help shepherd the kids around! If you're interested in helping us out with this, please contact childrens-program@noreascon.org, as soon as possible.

Special Interest Groups

Spaces are going fast – there may be none left by the convention. To guarantee that you have a meeting slot, you should remember to reserve time for your special interest group NOW (sigs@noreascon.org).

Autographing

If there is a line, there will be a three book maximum per person at a time. In other words, if you have more than three books, you must go to the end of the line after the first three are signed.

Kaffeeklatsches

Kaffeeklatsches are a way for fans to relax and drink coffee (or tea) with their favorite SF personality; they will take place in the ConSuite.

In order to ensure that you can be included, you (not someone else signing up for you!) must sign up, in advance, at Information in the Concourse in Hall C of the Hynes.

You may sign up for a kaffeeklatsch no more than 24 hours in advance of it. (That means, that if there is a kaffeeklatsch you want to see at 2:00 pm on Saturday, you will be able to sign up starting at 2:00 pm on Friday.) Sign-up will continue until all slots are taken (9 per klatsch—we will post information about whether a kaffeeklatsch is closed as soon as this occurs), or until one hour before the klatsch is scheduled. If there are any places left after that time, you can check in with the KK manager in the ConSuite. If there aren't any spaces left...well, then there aren't any spaces...for anyone.

Literary Beers

These are opportunities to hang out with people in a bar setting (you must buy your own, sorry!). Literary Beers will take place in the Mended Drum in the ConCourse (and possibly in the Sheraton Bar). Sign-up will be handled the same way as Kaffeeklatsches.

ATTENTION Game Masters & Players... The Gaming Committee wants YOU!

We want to make the games scene the best a Worldcon has ever seen. To do that, the Gaming Committee needs your help. We need GameMasters (GMs) for all sorts of games, from Dungeons and Dragons to Big Eyes, Small Mouth, from Toon to GURPS. If you have run a game before, bring it to Worldcon!

We're looking for all kinds of games, not just table-top role-playing—if you love board games, wargames, Cheapass games, card games, constructible sailing ship games, there's space and support for you. Come with your game and a willingness to teach and we'll provide the players.

Live Action games? Send us a proposal and we'll coordinate space.

While there will be space for pickup games, all GMs must register with the Gaming Committee. Send an email with your name, the game or games you'd like to run, and your GM'ing experience to gaming@noreascon.org. We'll be in contact to coordinate times, space, and the support we're getting from the company that makes your game. Game companies will have representatives attending, too!

Again, we can't stress enough how important it is to contact us first—it makes the difference between having your own table, a place in the schedule, and players vs. trying to scramble a game together at the last minute.

GURPS Discworld, anyone?

The Noreascon 4 Trivia Hunt

Traditionally, Worldcons hold at-con trivia contests, sometimes between competing teams, sometimes between competing individuals. Noreascon has taken this a step further by posting a trivia contest on its website. The questions are more difficult than those asked at an at-con trivia contest since anyone who chooses to participate will be able to spend time looking up the answers.

All entries must be turned in at Information (in the ConCourse) no later than 6:00 PM on Saturday, September 4. The winners will be announced in the at-con newsletter on Sunday, September 5 with prizes awarded on Sunday.

The Rules:

§ Entries may be completed by individuals or teams.

§ Prize(s) will be awarded per entry. If a team enters, it will be up to them to determine how to divide their prize(s).

§ The winner will be the entry with the most correct answers. In case of a tie, the winner will be selected by random drawing.

§ Entries must be received no later than 6:00 PM on Saturday, September 4.

§ All official participants must be members (attending or supporting) of Noreascon 4.

18. By what title is Hogan Zimri Marek Gwernach better known?

19. Where did the dirigible Arrowhead fly?
20. In what country would a person find Fuddlecumjig, View Halloo, Swing City, and Ruby Imp's Cavern?
21. Which craft had the registry number T-1339?
22. On what date was Victoria Luczak's funeral?
23. Who wrote about the detective David Silver?
24. Whose first published story features Professor Barry Pennywither?
25. Name the books/stories from which these lines come:
 - a. Memory dived down and perched on the rock which had once been the Giant Ingolf. "It's a long story," he said.
 - b. The legend of Jacurutu contained no story of the cistern poisoned, but it might have been.
 - c. When he had drained the cup he was drinking, Goliath looked at Beowulf. "Think it's time to make our beds?"
 - d. But one thing is certain. Man himself, at the very least, is music, a brave theme that makes music also of its vast accompaniment, its matrix of storms and stars. Man himself in his degree is eternally a beauty in the eternal form of things. It is very good to have been man. And so we may go forward together with laughter in our hearts, and peace, thankful for the past, and for our own courage. For we shall make after all a fair conclusion to this brief music that is man.
 - e. In those days, far south in Calormen on a little creek of the sea, there lived a poor fisherman called Arsheeh, and with him there lived a boy who called him Father.
 - f. About forty years ago a French scientist and philosopher named Jacques Monod wrote, "Man knows at last that he is alone in the indifferent immensity of the universe, whence he has emerged by chance."
 - g. Every Sunday ministers and priests took to their pulpits to proclaim that Jesus was the only Messiah, and every Sunday there were a few less people in their congregations. A thousand authors and biographers tackled the enigma of Jeremiah, and came up with a thousand different conclusions.
 - h. Three years here, and he had accomplished what? A book, appropriated by Sabul; five or six unpublished papers; and a funeral oration for a wasted life.
 - i. His is the House of Pain.
His is the Hand that makes.
His is the Hand that wounds
His is the Hand that heals.
 - j. Two more people died on the twenty-eighth, both of them primaries who had been at the dance in Headington, and Latimer had a stroke.

A Call for Junk

Noreascon 4 is going to have a Junkyard War on Sunday afternoon and we need your junk! Bring along projects you never quite finished. Bits of old machinery. Bits of wood, metal, plastic, and other stuff. If it looks useful and crafty, and you want it out of the house, bring it! Anything that isn't alive, dangerous, illegal, or too heavy to lift is welcome.

Bring your junk to the Junkyard in Hall A of the Hynes (near Registration)

Don't Eat Alone!

One of the loneliest things at a convention is to have to eat by yourself. We've set up a way for you to meet and arrange to go out to eat with other fans who are interested in the same topics (and food) as you are. There will be signups for Dining Groups at Noreascon in the Information area but you can set up or join a group in advance. Just go to www.noreascon.org/discuss and click on the Dining Groups area.

You may also find it useful to look at the "where to eat in Boston" group. View and add restaurant reviews to the Web log at noreascon4.blogs.com/restaurant/. For your convenience there are links to a number of Boston and vicinity restaurant guides at www.noreascon.org/boston/.

Oral Fixation

The Science Fiction Oral History Association (SFOHA) will be recording Noreascon! (At least large swaths of it.) And you can help! Here are ways you can pitch in:

* Volunteer to help record! Contact Anne Murphy at board@sfoha.org or 734-649-4534 or stop by the SFOHA Exhibit table during the con. You're attending programming anyway, why not record it too?

* Bring recording equipment if you can. We have a few sets to loan out, but more would help.

* If you are a program participant, sign your release form and turn it in to program ops or the SFOHA table so we can use and distribute recordings of you!

* Go to www.sfoha.org for more information.

Handicapped Services

Scooter Pickup

Scooter Pickup will be in Hall A of the Hynes Convention Center Wednesday, September 1 and Thursday, September 2 next to Registration. After that, please go to the Handicapped Access desk in the ConCourse in Hall C. If you have not reserved your scooter yet, please let us know ASAP at handicapped@noreascon.org. We can't guarantee that there will be additional scooters available at this time, but we make an attempt to help all we can.

Service Animals

Noreascon 4 will permit service animals only to accompany members into the convention center or public function areas of the hotels. No other animals are permitted in public convention space.

Please visit www.noreascon.org/memberv/access/handicapped.html or email handicapped@noreascon.org for additional information about Handicapped Services at Noreascon 4.

Fan Tables

Fan tables are an opportunity to meet other fans and introduce them to your convention bid, SF convention, club, or other fannish organization.

Need a table? We have an online form at: www.noreascon.org/exhibits/fantable_form.html. Indicate on the form any special requests that you have (please understand that we may not be able to accommodate your request). If you need electricity, we expect the price to be under $50.00 for the run of the con. Phone lines will be available at the standard Hynes rate. We expect to have wireless network access available for laptops throughout the Hynes Convention Center. If you need a wired Ethernet drop, please contact us.

Fannish groups are the heart and soul of fandom, so there will be no charge to groups for the table. However, everyone working at a fan table must be an attending member of Noreascon 4.

You may sell items such as memberships, bid T-shirts, and fanzines for your non-profit organization from a fan table. Non-profit groups (like NESFA Press) that sell a number of different items belong in the Dealers' Room.

If you have questions about or special requests for a fan table, email Marah Searle-Kovacevic at fantables@noreascon.org or write to Marah Searle-Kovacevic, Noreascon 4 Fan Tables, P.O. Box 1010, Framingham, MA 01701

Kids at Noreascon

We have many different kinds of activities and programs waiting for kids, including alien creation, origami, writing, drawing, science, a magic show and much more.

Children's Programming is designed with children as the audience. It will include talks by writers, readings, storytelling, musical performances and demos by artists. Program items will have an age appropriate designation. Children's Activities are volunteer run activities open to ages 1 to 12 years. These will be more craft oriented, and also age appropriate.

You'll be asked to designate your child as Attached, Unattached or Kid-in-Tow. Attached and Unattached children have a purchased children's admission or full attending membership, and are entitled to attend all appropriate activities and programs.

Kid-in-Tow are expected to stay with their paid adult member and are not entitled to attend any children's programming or activities.

Attached Children can attend program or activities with an adult who is responsible for their actions and whereabouts.

Unattached Children will be free to come and go without a supervising adult.

All children (including kids-in-tow) may be checked into KiddeCorp, our professional care provider, if they have reserved a space prior to the beginning of N4, or if there is room based on staff availability. Time with KiddieCorp can be purchased on site for $12/hour on a space available basis. Pre-registering is recommended. Children with memberships will get priority. For details see www.kiddiecorp.com/noreasconkids.htm.

There'll also be costume creations, movies, shrinky dinks, games to play and

In our first Progress Report, one of our Professional Guests of Honor revealed the wild side of the Worldcons he has attended. In our Souvenir Book and in the Guest of Honor books (see Special Offer below), you will find more Worldcon secrets of our GoHs. To ready us for the convention, we asked Peter Weston to give us a taste...

DANCING DRUNK

by Peter Weston

Well, I don't know about Dancing Naked, but I have Danced Drunk. Dead drunk.

It happened in 1988 at Nolacon, that strangest of worldcons. I mean, it started well enough with a big 'Welcome' party in one of the two hotels they were using, but then the whole convention evaporated mysteriously into thin air. Next morning I wandered endlessly between the Marriott and Sheraton, dodging the traffic racing between them down busy Canal Street, and eventually gave up. Nothing seemed to be going on anywhere, so I went and sat in the lobby with the other Brits.

The Marriott had this vast, empty reception space with acres of marble floor and they'd dumped an assortment of tables, chairs and potted plants in the middle to make the place look a bit more lived-in. This little island was colonised by our party, people like Greg Pickersgill and Dave Hodgson, Martin Hoare, John Jarrold, the fearsome Gamma, and a few others. We went out to Brennans, and The Old Absinthe House, but mostly we sat on our island, drinking beer and watching people go past in the far distance, trying to recognise fans. "Look, there's Ted White!" "No it's not, he doesn't have that much hair." Occasionally someone important stopped by, like Greg Benford, Dave Hartwell, and Charles Sheffield. There didn't seem to be many fans we knew.

On Sunday evening we found a fish restaurant down Bourbon Street, but it wasn't a great occasion. Greg was in one of his Black Moods, when he scowls and goes very quiet, so I cut out and went looking for some fun. I found a bar, and slid onto a stool. "Hey, where'reya from?" came the standard greeting. "From England? He's from England! Get the guy a drink!" My new friends were Texans, and they kindly plied me with something called 'New England Iced Tea'. It was long and cool and tasted good, so I knocked it back and ordered another. Maybe I had a third, but for some reason I don't remember anything very clearly after that.

On the way back to the hotel I bought a second-hand trombone in a big black carry-case from a musical instrument shop. It only cost $100.00 or like that, and it seemed a good idea at the time. They were impressed, back on the island, though none of us could get a note out of it.

I sat there feeling stranger and stranger, with my time-sense going haywire like in that James Blish story. The others were saying something to me but I couldn't understand what it was, so I grinned and waved and they went away. It was such a nice feeling! Five minutes later the words slowly put themselves into order in my brain, "Are you coming? We're going to the Sex Maniacs' Ball. Well, we're going now, then."

Staggering up to my room, I deposited the trombone and came down in the lift with someone I knew. That is, I knew that I knew her, although I couldn't work out exactly who she was, if you understand what I mean. But she was going to the Ball and I followed her across Canal Street and into this huge ballroom place I'd never found before.

The joint was jumping! It wasn't really a Sex Maniacs' Ball at all, that was just the name of Nolacon's Last-Night Party, and over a thousand fans were in there, rocking and rolling at full belt. It was an incredible disco, run by a local fan (Bob Briney, I think his name was), who was playing exactly the right music. I found a partner, went on the floor, and danced my little heart out. It was a great night, although I was handicapped by not knowing who I was dancing with. That is, I could see their faces, even read name-badges, but my brain couldn't comprehend the information, and everything they said to me was delayed for five minutes before it made any sense, so I probably stumbled around like a zombie. But I stayed on that floor for five solid hours until the dance finally ended at 3.00 a.m. These New Orleans fans might not be much good at running a Worldcon, I thought, but they certainly know how to hold a party!

Next morning I woke before eight, perfectly sober, to find I was lying in my bed and that a horrible bright purple thing was sticking out of the sheets at the bottom. I shot up. My right foot was totally purple all over, right up to a dividing line that ran neatly around my ankle, as if I'd had a foot transplant from Keith Bridges' Arcturian Dustman (in-group British joke; see my book, chapter 14). It didn't hurt, not until I tried to walk, that is.

Somehow, during all that mad dancing I had broken a bone in my foot, and had been too drunk to notice. It had to be strapped-up in elastic bandage, the purple colour lasted for weeks, and I've never again been tempted to drink New England Iced Tea.*

 For any remaining innocents, it consists of a measure each of all the white spirits – gin, vodka, white rum, tequila, and triple sec (cointreau), topped up with sweet & sour and coca-cola. No tea, you'll notice, not a drop. [Editor's question – Will they serve this at the New England Worldcon?]*
